

1. In her house there is a table, richly laid with bread and wine. All the foolish are invited; she calls to us "Come and dine." Come and eat at Wisdom's table, come and lay your burdens down; come and learn the power of weakness - Wisdom's Cross and Wisdom's Crown.
2. In this world we will have trouble and our comforters will fail; all our answers will seem useless, all our hopes will seem unreal. Come and eat at Wisdom's table, come and lay your burdens down; come and learn the power of weakness - Wisdom's Cross and Wisdom's Crown.
3. There are roads which lead to danger, there are paths which lead to life: Wisdom's ways are filled with choices and for the travelers she invites. Come and eat at Wisdom's table, come and lay your burdens down; come and learn the power of weakness - Wisdom's Cross and Wisdom's Crown.
4. There are those who search for reasons, there are those who look for signs; Wisdom dances on the tombstone of the fool who bled and died. Come and eat at Wisdom's table, come and lay your burdens down; come and learn the power of weakness - Wisdom's Cross and Wisdom's Crown.

Sing to Beach Spring, No 201
Doug Gay
1998